

ASCPT 2021
ANNUAL MEETING

REIMAGINING THE THERAPEUTIC LANDSCAPE

Sheiner-Beal Pharmacometrics Award Lecture

Acknowledgements

Nomination Committee

Mentors

Collaborators: Industry, Academia, Government

Students & Fellows

Family

Theory, Empiricism, Certain Random Events, and a Vision for the Continued Growth of Pharmacometrics

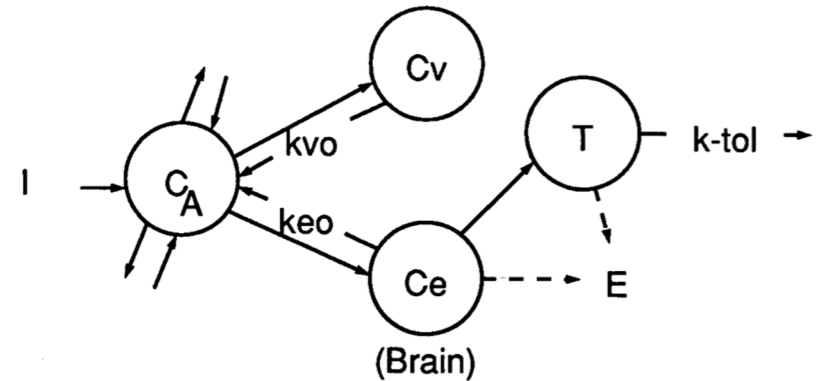

Marc R. Gastonguay, PhD, FISoP

“...the goal is theory, not data.”

Lewis B. Sheiner, MD

CLINICAL PHARMACOLOGY & THERAPEUTICS

VOLUME 46 NUMBER 6

DECEMBER 1989

Clinical pharmacology and the choice between theory and empiricism

Lewis B. Sheiner, MD San Francisco, Calif.

understanding goal

theory

induction deduction

empiric verification

insight and technique

applicable

Stuart L. Beal, PhD

Journal of Pharmacokinetics and Pharmacodynamics, Vol. 32, No. 2, April 2005 (© 2005)
DOI: 10.1007/s10928-005-0090-7

Conditioning on Certain Random Events Associated with Statistical Variability in PK/PD

Stuart L. Beal¹

Table II. Estimation error with blood pressure example

	Mean error (%)		Error magnitude (%)
	E _{max}	d50	E _{max}	d50
Naive	-33	-75	33	91
Laplace	1	10	7	22
Laplace – ADAG	-1	-0.3	6	18

enhanced detail description ideas listen stimulating discussion

A Vision for Pharmacometrics

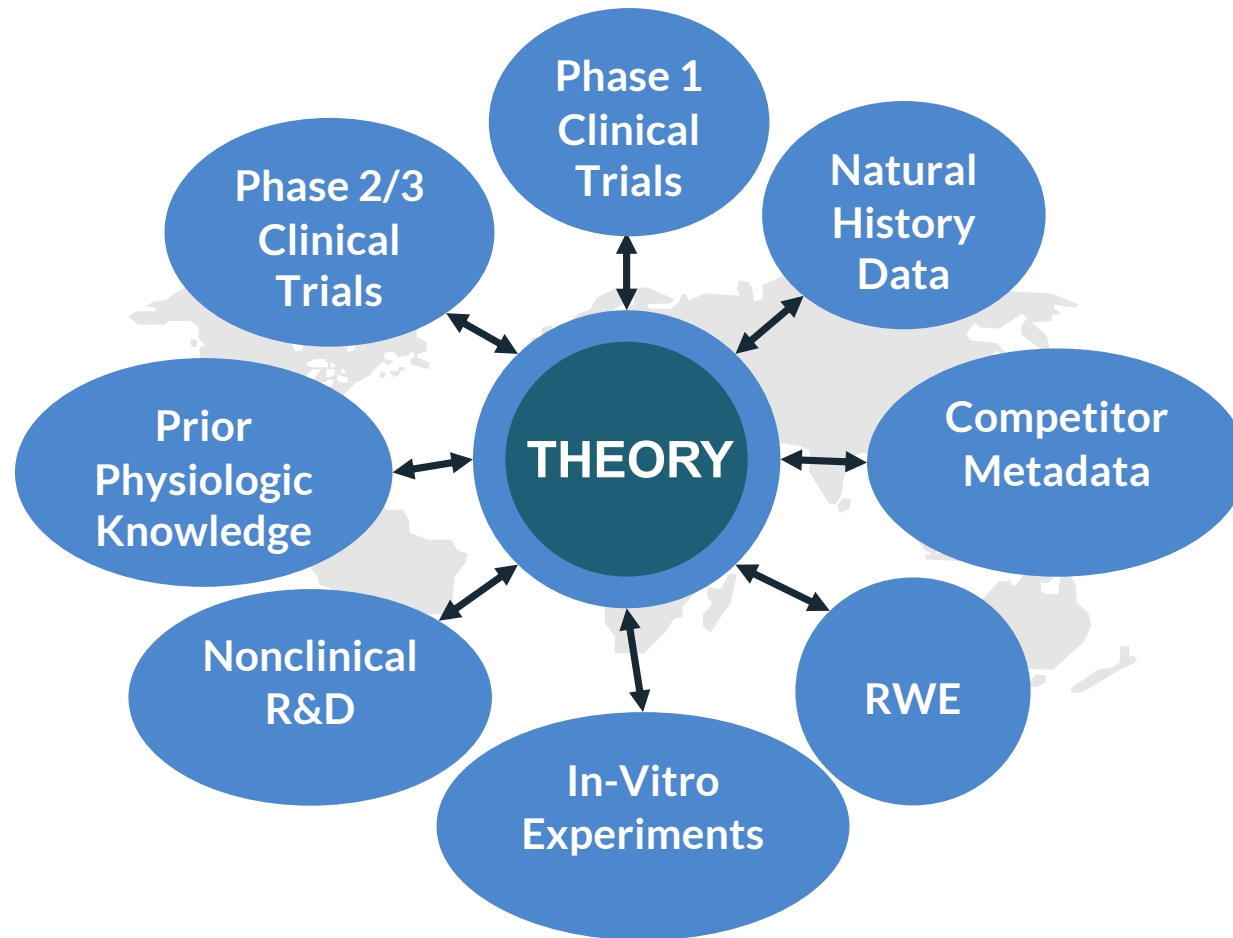

How do we grow the vision? A Community Effort

Community-Driven Growth of Pharmacometrics

Pharmacometrics: Engine for Theoretical Understanding

Sheiner & Beal: Learnings

Focus on Theory as the Goal

Rigorous Methodology & Detail

Empirical Verification

Listen, Describe, Discuss

Apply Beyond
Current Study